ABOUT ME

Young product designer. Born and raised in Barletta. Since I was born I have had a passion in the arts world that lead me to attend painting lessons and workshops since early age of 5 up to today. For all my life, I have been studying and focusing my attention in arts and eventually this passion lead me to what I love to do, design. Graduated with honors from NABA in Milan with a thesis project in Design for All. In all my projects I focus around the main user and the people behind the product. I love working with teams and experiment in each step of the creative process from concept to production. You can never trust a sketch therefore I always try to prototype my ideas. Currently attending the first year of MA Design Products in Royal College of Art.
